Photographic Experience

1995 - 2001- Studied photography with internationally known photographer Jay Stock (A.S.P.). Course work included using a variety of photographic techniques, teaching a seminar on rear projection photography, and working with models on location throughout Maine. The class was a five year long seminar ending with graduation in 2000 with a certification in portrait photography.

1998 and 2002 - Studied with internationally known photographer Freeman Patterson. The course of study included a strong emphasis on the photographer's relationship to his subjects, photographic composition, light and using creative techniques such as multiple exposure.

1994 - 2007 - Steve Dunn works as a fine art photographer, using such techniques as Polaroid manipulation, multiple exposure, montage and rear projection. He teaches photography classes with an emphasis on visual design. His work has been published in Down East Magazine and he is currently working on a book of his images of Monhegan Island. Mr. Dunn's prints are part of art collections throughout the United States.

His fine art prints are displayed at sidewalk art shows and galleries throughout Maine. The galleries in which Steve has displayed his work include: The Birdsnest Gallery in Bar Harbor, The Chocolate Church in Bath, Harlow Art Gallery in Hallowell, The Penobscot Trading Co. Gallery in Sedgwick, Huston-Tuttle & Gallery One in Wiscasset and others.

Mr. Dunn has received three gold medals for work submitted to the Austrian Super Circuit, which is the largest juried international photographic exhibition in the world. From 2001 to 2006, his images were part of several exhibitions in Europe. Eight of Steve's images are part of a photographic exhibition in Europe. His work was also on exhibition in Asia in 2004-2005.
